About this compendium

This PDF collects Toronto's 25 city council ward races into one document: who's registered to run in 2026, the 2022 election baseline, a one-paragraph civic-texture summary for each ward, and every candidate's own campaign bio — sourced, dated, and honest about the gaps.

Currency. Every registrant figure below — who's filed, incumbency, candidate counts — is a snapshot as of August 14, 2026, drawn from the City of Toronto Clerk's official candidate feeds. Nominations close Friday, August 21, 2026, at 2:00 p.m. — these figures will move after that date and this document will not update itself. Structural facts (2021 Census figures, land area) are dated separately and don't move at nomination close. The current version of every ward page, and any correction logged after this PDF was built, is always at unitetolove.ca/wards/.

Absence is not fault. Absence of a website, a bio, or any campaign material for a candidate is a fact about the public record and this project's search as of August 14, 2026 — not a judgment about that candidate's effort, seriousness, or worth. Every candidate in every race gets identical fields, identical format, and identical treatment, alphabetically by surname, whether incumbent or first-time, well-resourced or not.

Bios, strictly sourced. Every candidate bio is synthesized only from that candidate's own published campaign material (their website, their own social accounts, their own platform document) and public registry facts already on file — never from news coverage, opposition material, or this project's own characterization. No candidate is scored, ranked, or characterized anywhere in this document.

Civic texture, compressed. Each ward section below carries a one-paragraph "in one minute" summary from that ward's own research brief. The full per-ward research behind it — transit and development context, local commons, the local media landscape — runs longer than this document's print budget allows across 25 wards, and remains published in full at unitetolove.ca/wards/; its source citations are compressed into the appendix at the end of this document.

Citywide figures (the receipt). As of 2026-08-14: 253 candidates registered across Toronto's municipal and school-board races (mayor 42 · council 145 · TDSB 39 · TCDSB 21 · French-board seats 6); council averages 5.8 candidates per ward; 22 of 25 wards have their 2022 incumbent re-registered; the 2022 council margin (25 wards with a baseline on file) has a median of 32.0 points, with 3 wards under 5 points; citywide 2022 turnout was 29.7%. Source: City of Toronto Clerk candidate feeds captured 2026-08-14, and the City's official 2022 election results.

Found a mistake? That's the system working. Every figure in this compendium traces to a public source or a candidate's own published material, cited in the appendix at the end of this document. Send corrections, improvements, or new material to unknownsoldier@unitetolove.ca — every note is read, verified against sources, and if it holds, fixed in the open, with the old version left visible and the fix dated.

Regenerating this document. Built by a re-runnable, deterministic script kept with this project's own source; nothing in it is hand-edited. Re-run it after the source data changes to refresh this document.

Civic texture

Etobicoke North sits in Toronto's northwest corner, wedged between the Humber River and Highway 427. It's a large, mostly suburban ward — older subdivisions, townhome clusters, and apartment towers — and one of the city's most diverse: an estimated 58% of residents are immigrants and 76% identify as visible minorities. The ward includes Rexdale, Thistletown, Kingsview Village, Humberwood, The Elms, and Willowridge, and just gained a new transit line: the Finch West LRT's western terminus opened here in December 2025.

One-paragraph summary from this ward's research brief; full civic texture for this ward is at unitetolove.ca/wards/ and its sources are compressed in this document's appendix.

Civic texture

Etobicoke Centre occupies the historic core of the former City of Etobicoke, in Toronto's west end. It runs from the Humber River and Dixon Road in the north and east, through established postwar subdivisions such as Eringate-Centennial-West Deane, down to Highway 427 and Dundas Street West in the south, with the Region of Peel forming its entire western edge. It's home to Toronto's second-largest park, Centennial Park — but its southeastern corner sits beside one of the city's biggest active redevelopments: the former Six Points highway interchange at Bloor Street and Kipling Avenue, once known locally as "Spaghetti Junction," has been rebuilt into a new mixed-use district, and construction is underway on a roughly 475,000–508,000-sq-ft Etobicoke Civic Centre a short walk from Kipling subway station. Notably, as this brief details below, the flagship Bloor-Kipling redevelopment blocks and the new civic centre itself are attributed by the City's own project database to the neighbouring ward, Etobicoke–Lakeshore (Ward 3) — not to Etobicoke Centre, despite the shared place name. [Source: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ward_2_Etobicoke_Centre, accessed 2026-08-14] [Source: <https://createto.ca/projects/bloor-kipling>, accessed 2026-08-14]

Jennifer Alexander

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://jenalexander.ca/>

Jennifer Alexander is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 2 (Etobicoke Centre), in the 2026 municipal election, registered on May 1, 2026. Her campaign site describes her as a lifelong resident of Etobicoke Centre with ten years of community advocacy and non-profit consulting experience in transportation, safety, housing, and neighbourhood development, and as founder of a local newsletter, The Etobicoke Voice. Her stated priorities are safer streets and street-crossing design, a stronger and more transparent community voice at City Hall, improved local services and infrastructure, and prevention-focused community safety partnerships addressing the root causes of crime.

Stephen Holyday — INCUMBENT

Registered 2026-07-10 · Website: <https://stephenholyday.ca/>

Stephen Holyday is the incumbent candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 2 (Etobicoke Centre), in the 2026 municipal election, registered on July 10, 2026. His website describes him as Ward 2's councillor since 2018, previously councillor for Ward 3 - Etobicoke Centre since December 2014, and a lifelong Etobicoke resident. As of August 14, 2026, the site — which primarily hosts newsletter sign-up and constituency-update content, including linked consultation notices — did not carry a consolidated statement of 2026 campaign priorities or platform.

Ward 03 — Etobicoke-Lakeshore

Office	Councillor, Ward 03 - Etobicoke-Lakeshore
Seats	1
Incumbent	Amber Morley — running in 2026: yes — open seat: no
2022 result	Amber Morley won by 6.1 points over the runner-up — a real contest, not a landslide. Citywide 2022 turnout was 29.7% (per-ward turnout is not compiled in this dataset). Source: City of Toronto official 2022 election results.

Median household income (2020)	$90,000
Renter / owner split	43.1% / 56.9%
Land area	40.0 km ²

Civic texture

Ward 3 – Etobicoke-Lakeshore runs along Toronto's Lake Ontario shoreline in southwest Etobicoke, taking in the old lakeshore villages of Mimico, New Toronto, Long Branch and Alderwood between the Humber River and Etobicoke Creek. It's a waterfront-and-transit ward: two GO stations (Mimico, Long Branch) on the Lakeshore West line and a streetcar line that terminates at Long Branch Loop anchor a corridor that has seen sustained condominium development, especially around the Mimico GO lands. Away from the rail corridor the ward keeps a lower-rise, lake-access character — Marie Curtis Park and Colonel Samuel Smith Park bookend its waterfront, and its library branches (New Toronto, Long Branch, Alderwood, Mimico Centennial) mostly predate amalgamation, several tracing to the 1910s-20s.

One-paragraph summary from this ward's research brief; full civic texture for this ward is at unitetolove.ca/wards/ and its sources are compressed in this document's appendix.

Amber Morley is the incumbent candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 3 (Etobicoke-Lakeshore), in the 2026 municipal election, registered on July 13, 2026. Her site describes over 20 years working on behalf of Etobicoke-Lakeshore residents, including as Director of the South Etobicoke Youth Assembly at LAMP Community Health Centre, a Toronto city constituency assistant, and coordinator of a South and Central Etobicoke vaccine-engagement team during COVID-19. It lists her council committee roles, including the Etobicoke York Community Council, Budget Committee, and Toronto Police Services Board. As of August 14, 2026, the site did not carry a consolidated 2026 campaign platform separate from this biographical and committee information.

Ted Opitz

Registered 2026-06-09 · Website: <https://tedopitz.ca/>

Ted Opitz is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 3 (Etobicoke-Lakeshore), in the 2026 municipal election, registered on June 9, 2026. His campaign site describes a 33-year military career in the Canadian Armed Forces, retiring as Lieutenant-Colonel, and service as Member of Parliament for Etobicoke Centre from 2011 to 2015. It lists his stated priorities as supporting families and neighbourhood safety, standing up for local businesses, improving city services, ensuring taxpayer value for money spent, and giving Ward 3 a strong voice at Toronto City Hall.

Ward 04 — Parkdale-High Park

Office	Councillor, Ward 04 - Parkdale-High Park
Seats	1
Incumbent	Gord Perks — running in 2026: no — open seat: yes
2022 result	Gord Perks won by 3.9 points over the runner-up — razor-tight — about as close as a Toronto council race gets. Citywide 2022 turnout was 29.7% (per-ward turnout is not compiled in this dataset). Source: City of Toronto official 2022 election results.
Candidates filed for 2026	9, as of 2026-08-14 (nominations close 2026-08-21)
Population (2021 Census)	104,715
Median household income (2020)	$85,000
Renter / owner split	56.3% / 43.7%
Land area	15.3 km ²

Civic texture

Parkdale-High Park sits in Toronto's west end, running from the Humber River in the west to a rail-line/Dufferin Street boundary in the east, and from a CP rail line south of St. Clair Avenue down to the Lake Ontario shoreline. It combines the lakefront neighbourhoods of Parkdale and Sunnyside with High Park — the ward's signature green space — and the residential streets of Roncesvalles, Swansea, Runnymede–Bloor West Village, the Junction Area, and Lambton Baby Point/Old Mill. Five TTC Line 2 subway stations (Keele, High Park, Runnymede, Jane, and Old Mill) sit within the ward, and the 501 Queen and 504 King streetcars run along its southern edge. One concrete foothold on what makes this ward distinct: multi-tenant ("rooming") housing has been a defining local policy question for decades — a 2017 community land-trust study counted roughly 198 rooming houses (about 2,715 individual dwelling rooms) in Parkdale alone, more units than Toronto Community Housing owned in the same study area, and the City's first-ever citywide licensing framework for this housing type only took effect March 31, 2024.

One-paragraph summary from this ward's research brief; full civic texture for this ward is at unitetolove.ca/wards/ and its sources are compressed in this document's appendix.

Civic texture

York South-Weston sits in Toronto's northwest, largely coextensive with the former City of York, bounded by the Humber River, Highway 401, a CN rail line and a CP rail line. Its core neighbourhoods are Weston, Mount Dennis and Rockcliffe-Smythe. The ward just gained a major transit milestone: Line 5 Eglinton's western terminus opened at Mount Dennis on February 8, 2026, built into the site of the historic Kodak Heights factory lands, alongside a new GO Transit/UP Express station that opened there in November 2025. A few kilometres north, Weston's own long-serving GO/UP Express station has just finished a construction upgrade, and a wave of highrise residential proposals — several exceeding 40 storeys — is now moving through the planning process around it.

Her campaign site describes her as an author, registered social worker, and PhD candidate at the University of Toronto, and founder of the Canadian Council for Family Services. It lists a "Six Points Agenda": supportive programs for families and residents, strengthening local businesses and economic growth, affordable and equitable housing, community infrastructure and public safety, cultural diversity and inclusion, and establishing equitable community centres, framed around what she describes as "restoring hope, and building a brighter future."

Chiara Padovani

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://www.chiarapadovani.ca/>

Chiara Padovani is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 5 (York South-Weston), in the 2026 municipal election, registered on May 1, 2026. Her campaign site describes her as a human rights activist and social worker with the North York Harvest Food Bank who ran for the same seat in 2022, coming within 94 votes, and who has since run a community hub from her former campaign office. It cites work there including a free tax clinic for seniors, eviction-prevention support, flood-prevention advocacy, and helping found the York South-Weston Tenant Union. The site does not carry a separate itemized 2026 policy platform.

Sileen Phillips

Registered 2026-06-15 · Website: <https://www.sileenphillips-ysw.ca>

Sileen Phillips is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 5 (York South-Weston), in the 2026 municipal election, registered on June 15, 2026. Her campaign site describes over 25 years of federal compliance and enforcement experience, six years as an elections administrator, ministry and youth-coordinator work at Anglican churches, and current doctoral study at the University of Toronto. Her platform, "Housing Dignity and Safe Homes," lists nine priorities including stronger tenant protections, safer rental buildings, affordable and supportive housing, youth and seniors' programs, flood-resilient neighbourhoods, traffic calming, transit access, green space, and transparent local government.

Civic texture

York Centre sits in Toronto's north end, in the former City of North York, roughly bounded by Steeles Avenue West, Bathurst Street, Highway 401, and Jane/Keele Streets — a largely residential ward built out through the postwar Bathurst Manor and Clanton Park subdivisions, with two Line 1 subway stations (Wilson and Sheppard West) at its core. Its biggest current civic story is the former Downsview Airport: closed to aviation in 2024 after decades as a Bombardier aircraft plant, the 370-acre site (now branded "YZD" by owner Northcrest Developments) is planned as the largest urban redevelopment in North America, with more than 35,000 homes envisioned over roughly 30 years. Part of those same lands opened in 2025 as Rogers Stadium, a large outdoor concert venue whose traffic and noise impacts are an active file for the ward's councillor's office. The ward is also home to Earl Bales Park's ski hill and Holocaust memorial, and to a significant concentration of Jewish community institutions along the Bathurst Street corridor.

Renter / owner split	52.0% / 48.0%
Land area	30.7 km ²

Civic texture

Humber River-Black Creek sits in Toronto's northwest, in the old municipality of North York, bounded by the Humber River to the west, Keele Street to the east, Steeles Avenue to the north, and a jagged southern line running along Black Creek, Sheppard Avenue West, Jane Street and Highway 401. Its best-known area is Jane and Finch, long a focus of City-led neighbourhood planning — the Jane Finch Secondary Plan and Community Development Plan took legal effect in most of the area in 2025, and Toronto's newest light-rail line, Line 6 Finch West, opened along Finch Avenue West through the ward in December 2025. The ward also touches York University's western edge and includes the Black Creek Pioneer Village heritage site near Jane Street and Steeles Avenue. It is one of the city's more actively redeveloping wards: an independent development tracker counted three dozen residential and institutional projects underway or recently completed here as of late 2023, several timed to the new transit line.

Her campaign site describes her as an arts leader and community advocate with a career as a screenwriter, actor and director, who has served on the Annex Residents' Association and co-founded the Dalton Road Residents' Group. Her campaign is framed around three themes: community, describing service through advocacy and grassroots leadership; transparency, including consultation and accountable city planning; and future, aimed at a city where young people, families and older adults can thrive. As of August 14, 2026, no separate itemized platform page had been located on her site.

Karina Lemke

Registered 2026-07-13 · Website: <https://www.votekarina.ca>

Karina Lemke is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 11 (University-Rosedale), registered on July 13, 2026. Her campaign site describes her as a lifelong Torontonians and former small-business owner. Her platform lists five priorities: building neighbourhoods with accessibility and a range of housing types; supporting small businesses against rising costs; improving transit and traffic safety, including opposing what she calls 'forced-use tactics' pushing riders onto an unready TTC; keeping parks and schoolyards free of drug use, paired with housing and treatment supports; and combatting antisemitism, including expanded protective zones around religious and community sites.

Alice Li

Registered 2026-05-04 · Website: <https://www.aliceli.ca/>

Alice Li is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 11 (University-Rosedale), registered on May 4, 2026. Her campaign site, which describes her as a CPA, CA and BCom, is primarily biographical and does not include an itemized platform or list of issue positions. It presents her candidacy under the phrase 'a brighter vision for Toronto, shaped by experience and driven by service.' As of August 14, 2026, no separate platform or issues page had been located on her site.

Gian Pileri

Registered 2026-06-11 · Website: <https://www.gianpileri.ca/>

Gian Pileri is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 11 (University-Rosedale), registered on June 11, 2026. His campaign site describes him as a renter who has lived in Toronto for about 15 years, working in higher education, and speaking English, French and Italian. His platform lists three priorities: helping people afford to stay in the ward, including protecting rental housing and supporting genuinely affordable homes; making neighbourhoods safer, cleaner and better cared for, including consistent bylaw enforcement; and making it easier to move around the ward, including safer intersections and a more reliable, accessible TTC. He states his platform 'will continue to develop through conversations with residents.'

Dianne Saxe — INCUMBENT

Registered 2026-06-29 · Website: <https://www.votesaxe.ca/>

Dianne Saxe is the incumbent city councillor for Ward 11 (University-Rosedale), registered as a candidate for re-election on June 29, 2026. Her campaign site describes her as a University-Rosedale resident for three generations and a former environmental lawyer of more than 40 years, who served as Ontario's independent Environmental Commissioner until the office was eliminated. It lists results from her current term, including supportive-housing beds at 35 Bellevue and an 80-bed shelter at 720 Bathurst, transit signal priority on Spadina, and expanded cycling routes. The site frames her candidacy around continuing this record rather than a new forward platform.

Diana Yoon

Registered 2026-05-20 · Website: <https://www.VoteYoon.ca>

Diana Yoon is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 11 (University-Rosedale), registered on May 20, 2026. Her campaign site describes her as an affordable-housing advocate and climate activist who has worked at a national co-op housing federation, stating she helped secure $1.5 billion in funding for new co-op housing and $1.6 million in climate-action grants. Her platform is organized under three themes: housing affordability, safe and reliable transit, and protecting community spaces 'for people, not profit.' She has lived in the ward's Seaton Village neighbourhood since 2017 and immigrated to Canada from South Korea at age four, according to her site.

Toronto Centre is the heart of downtown — Regent Park (Canada's first social-housing development, now mid redevelopment), St. James Town (one of Canada's most densely populated neighbourhoods), Cabbagetown, the Church-Wellesley Village, St. Lawrence, the Eaton Centre, and part of the financial district all sit inside this ward. It's dense, fast-growing, and carries more live City infrastructure work — watermain, sewer, bridge, streetscape — than almost any other ward on file, plus a major transit project (the Ontario Line's East Harbour station) landing at its eastern edge.

Walied Khogali Ali

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://www.votewalied.ca>

Walied Khogali Ali is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered on May 1, 2026. His campaign site describes him as a Regent Park resident and community activist who co-chaired the Regent Park Social Development Plan, stating this helped secure $26.8 million in community benefits for the ward. His platform, 'Respect Our Communities,' lists six priorities: income-based rather than market-based affordable housing; expanding Social Development Plans citywide; a 'Community Space Guarantee' for centres and cultural hubs; a city-run youth jobs program; universal school meals and community food hubs; and climate measures including a maximum-heat bylaw and expanded tree canopy.

Joe Cadeau

Registered 2026-05-06 · Website: <https://www.votejoecadeau.ca/>

Joe Cadeau is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered on May 6, 2026. His campaign site describes 15 years living in the ward, volunteer work at a food-bank program at St. Bartholomew's Church, and past service on the Ward Council for Toronto Centre and the St. Lawrence Neighbourhood Association. His platform lists four priorities: accountability for over-budget city projects, citing specific supportive-housing and drop-in-centre examples; stronger community engagement through resident associations and open consultation; affordability, including a proposed freeze on salary increases for city staff earning over $150,000; and expanding non-police crisis response for calls such as wellness checks.

Tom Cai

Registered 2026-05-14 · Website: <https://www.tomforward13.com/>

Tom Cai is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered on May 14, 2026. His campaign site describes him as a grassroots candidate campaigning on affordability. His platform calls for distance-based TTC fares that could lower some rides to 50 cents, funded by what he describes as ending 'corruption and mismanagement' at city hall rather than higher taxes; stronger tenant protections against rent hikes and evictions; opposition to condo overdevelopment displacing small businesses; an increased Vacant Homes Tax directed to affordable housing and TTC reform; and restarting supervised consumption sites, which his site frames as a response to drug use in parks and residential buildings.

Victoria Davis

Registered 2026-05-26 · Website: <https://www.victoriaforcentre.ca>

Victoria Davis is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered on May 26, 2026. Her campaign website could not be reached on August 14, 2026 due to a bot-detection block; this bio is based on a August 5, 2026 capture. That capture describes her platform under the phrase 'an everyday person for everyday people,' listing priorities including housing as a human right, more public washrooms, connecting residents to nature and green space, neurodivergence and disability awareness, support for entrepreneurs and small businesses, improved transit, and community safety. Her site states she draws on the Seven Sacred Grandfather teachings of Anishinaabe culture and describes her own background as an immigrant and disabled person.

Chris Moise — INCUMBENT

Registered 2026-07-20 · Website: <https://www.chrismoise.vote>

Chris Moise is the incumbent city councillor for Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered as a candidate for re-election on July 20, 2026. His campaign site, headed 'Re-Elect Chris Moise,' presents a record of his current term rather than a forward platform, including citing more than 10,000 new home construction starts and over 1,000 affordable housing units, TTC fare freezes for three consecutive years, expansion of the Toronto Community Crisis Service, and public-space projects including the Allan Gardens Master Plan and a new district library in Moss Park. He previously served as a Toronto District School Board trustee.

Curran Stikuts

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://www.votecurran.ca>

Curran Stikuts is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered on May 1, 2026. His campaign site describes over a decade at The 519 Community Centre, most recently as Director of Advocacy and Strategic Communications, and service on Toronto Public Health's mental-health and drug-strategy panel. His platform, 'Affordable, Beautiful, Connected & Safe,' calls for stronger tenant and anti-displacement protections, properly maintained parks and public spaces, closer coordination between residents and city hall, and a safety approach combining prevention with a response to street-level disorder. He is endorsed by the Toronto & York Region Labour Council, according to his site.

Daniel Tate

Registered 2026-07-22 · Website: <https://www.votetate.ca>

Daniel Tate is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered on July 22, 2026. His campaign site, under the slogan 'Integrity. Accountability. Vision.,' calls for ending what he describes as failed drug policies in favour of treatment, recovery and accountability; stronger enforcement in parks and on transit; fiscal responsibility through audits of city spending; and merit-based hiring at city hall. His platform also proposes reversing the renaming of Yonge-Dundas Square, stating the change 'lacked public support, transparency, and was universally disliked.' The site describes Toronto's operating budget as having more than doubled since 2013.

Nicki Ward

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://www.nickiward.ca/authentic>

Nicki Ward is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 13 (Toronto Centre), registered on May 1, 2026. Her campaign site describes more than three decades of work on human rights, housing rights and disability rights, and identifies her as an equity-seeking and disabled person who has at times experienced housing insecurity. Her platform, framed around accountability, states that a councillor's job is to hold city departments to measurable outcomes rather than internal process, describing this as 'Not Performance Politics — Substance.' Her site references linked commentary on creating more housing co-ops, making the TTC safer, and addressing what she calls a density deficit.

Registered 2026-06-01 · Website: <https://www.electsusanchapelle.com>

Susan Chapelle is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 14 (Toronto-Danforth), registered on June 1, 2026. Her campaign site describes her as a former two-term elected municipal councillor with a career spanning healthcare, research, technology, labour and business, and a small-business owner in Broadview Danforth. Her platform, 'Community, Opportunity, Action,' calls for growth paired with supporting infrastructure such as parks, schools and healthcare access; support for local business and job opportunity; cleaner and safer neighbourhoods, including improved transit safety; and stronger public services, including waste collection and stormwater capacity. Her site refers respectfully to incumbent Paula Fletcher's tenure.

Jason Stevens

Registered 2026-05-29 · Website: <https://www.votejasons.com/>

Jason Stevens is a candidate for Toronto City Council, Ward 14 (Toronto-Danforth), registered on May 29, 2026. His campaign site describes him as a long-time Toronto-Danforth resident who states he has served the community 'since my youth.' His platform proposes freezing property taxes to a 2 percent increase, building shelters where appropriate, supporting local businesses, and opposing Billy Bishop Airport expansion, which he states could save the city over $2.2 billion combined with challenging Ontario's Special Purpose Account rules. He also proposes a weekly resident newsletter and describes his campaign as 'rooted in being a responsive, engaged councillor' who brings constituent concerns forward.

Land area	30.3 km²

Civic texture

Don Valley West covers Leaside, Bennington Heights, Thorncliffe Park, Flemingdon Park (part), Lawrence Park (part, east of Yonge), the Bridle Path, and Wanless Park — a wide-ranging ward from dense high-rise apartment towers (Thorncliffe Park) to some of Toronto's most expensive low-rise streets. Its biggest recent civic change is transit: the Eglinton Crosstown (Line 5) opened in February 2026, serving Leaside with three stations (including Laird), after a century in which the area's rail connections were mostly industrial. The seat itself changed hands mid-term: councillor Jaye Robinson died in office and Rachel Chernos Lin won the November 2024 by-election to succeed her — background already carried on this ward's data card.

Civic texture

Don Valley East covers Flemingdon Park, Victoria Village, and the O'Connor-Parkview/Thorncliffe-adjacent area north of the Don Valley — a mix of 1960s-70s high-rise apartment communities and post-war bungalow neighbourhoods. It's currently at the centre of two major, overlapping transit projects: the Eglinton Crosstown (Line 5) opened in February 2026 with three stops in Flemingdon Park, and the Ontario Line (under construction) will add two more elevated stations here, including an interchange with Line 5 — making this one of relatively few Toronto wards gaining two new rapid-transit lines within a few years of each other.

Civic texture

Willowdale sits in the former City of North York, running along the Yonge Street subway corridor from Highway 401 north to Steeles Avenue at the city's northern limit. Its core is North York Centre — the office and civic hub around Yonge and Sheppard that is, by the City's own account, the largest office-employment cluster in Toronto outside Downtown — served directly by three subway stations on TTC Line 1. The ward is currently the subject of a multi-year City Planning review (North York at the Centre) rewriting the growth rules for that core, and a City-built supportive-housing project on Cummer Avenue that took years of community process and an Ontario Land Tribunal appeal to reach construction is set to open in 2026.

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://www.tycenlegg.ca>

Tycen Legg is a candidate for Ward 19 Beaches-East York, registered on May 1, 2026. His campaign site publishes a policy platform across several categories. On transit, he lists eliminating TTC slow zones, streetcar and bus priority lanes, expanded Bike Share, and safer intersections near schools. On housing, he lists streamlined approvals and legalizing laneway, garden, and basement suites. On local business, he lists simplified patio permitting and a surcharge on empty storefronts. On parks and environment, he lists community safety audits and expanded urban forestry grants. On governance, he lists a living wage for city employees and support for Toronto becoming a Charter City. A separate "Commitments" section describes plans for regular public office hours and town halls.

Kevin Morrison

Registered 2026-05-05 · Website: <https://electkevinmorrison.com/>

Kevin Morrison is a candidate for Ward 19 Beaches-East York, registered on May 5, 2026. His campaign site describes him as a school board trustee with more than 25 years of community service and 30 years living in Beaches-East York, and states he received a 2023 Queen's Jubilee Award. His platform, published as "Kevin's To-Do List," includes opposing expansion of the Billy Bishop airport, accessible snow removal, more frequent bus and streetcar service, a new school at Main and Danforth, investing in supportive housing, requiring community benefits from developers, and expanding childcare availability, citing his record creating childcare spaces as a trustee.

Adam Smith

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://www.adamsmithward19.ca>

Adam Smith is a candidate for Ward 19 Beaches-East York, registered on May 1, 2026. His campaign site describes 16 years of community involvement, including work with the Beach Community Edible Garden, Meals on Wheels, and advocacy against overdevelopment before the former Ontario Municipal Board. His platform, described on the site as an update of platforms he ran on in 2018 and 2022, is organized into four pillars: "A Livable Planet" (emissions, waste, and green space); "A Circular Economy" (local food security and small-business support); "An Equitable Society" (housing as a human right, youth, seniors, and public services); and a "Ward 19 Transportation Network" plan, including completing the Woodbine bike lanes and opposing expansion of the Billy Bishop airport.

Registered 2026-06-24 · Website: <https://www.patienceinaction.ca>

Patience Evbagharu is a candidate for Ward 21 Scarborough Centre, registered on June 24, 2026. Her campaign site describes "amplifying residents' voices in City Hall since 2017" and organizes her platform into four pillars: safer communities, describing a "common-sense approach to public safety" that addresses root causes; smart growth and infrastructure, including efficient transit and upgraded roads; respect for taxpayers, emphasizing value for spending and transparency; and opportunity and growth, focused on investment so Scarborough is not, in the site's words, treated as "an afterthought." The site cites city-wide statistics on shootings, TTC ridership, and rental affordability as context for these priorities.

Uthish Ganesh

Registered 2026-07-31 · Website: <https://ganeshforward21.ca/>

Uthish Ganesh is a candidate for Ward 21 Scarborough Centre, registered on July 31, 2026. His campaign site describes growing up in Scarborough Centre in community housing, studying at the University of Toronto and Oxford, and currently teaching history and English at a ward high school. His platform lists six costed priorities, including a rent-to-own guarantee and local-hire quotas for new housing ("Homes for All"); a youth summer-employment program ("Jobs in Scarborough"); removing a bus lane on Kennedy Road ("Bring Back the Lane"); expanding the Neighbourhood Community Officer program; a standing ward food table linked to the Scarborough Ontario Health Team; and a community-nominated park beautification fund. The site states the plan would not require a property tax increase.

Stella Kargiannakis

Registered 2026-08-06 · Website: <https://www.citizenreview.ca/>

Stella Kargiannakis is a candidate for Ward 21 Scarborough Centre, registered on August 6, 2026. Her campaign site states she does not accept campaign donations and describes herself as an independent with no party affiliation; her stated background includes work as a housing-project development officer, a housing market analyst, and a daycare administrator. Her platform proposes lower property taxes and utility charges, and reallocating funding from a list of named city grant programs toward core services. On community safety, her site proposes mandatory treatment or incarceration for addiction-related offences and holding guardians financially liable when minors in their care commit crimes. She also states support for raising Ontario's minimum wage to $25 per hour.

Land area	21.4 km ²

Civic texture

Scarborough-Agincourt sits in the middle of Scarborough, bounded by Steeles Avenue East, Highway 401, Victoria Park Avenue, and Midland Avenue — a fully built-out, largely residential ward with no subway or LRT line of its own, but with Agincourt GO station near its centre. Its biggest current civic story is redevelopment near that station: the 26-acre Agincourt Mall site and the six-parcel Cowdray Court lands next to it are both moving through City approvals toward thousands of new homes. The ward's population is heavily immigrant and multilingual — Mandarin and Cantonese are its two most-common non-official home languages — a mix reflected in its Sheppard Avenue retail strip and in the closure, within the past three years, of both the ward's longtime English-language community paper and a Chinese-language daily whose Toronto office was historically based in Agincourt.

Jackson Ho

Registered 2026-06-12 · Website: <https://www.voteforjackson.ca/>

Jackson Ho is a candidate for Ward 22 Scarborough-Agincourt, registered on June 12, 2026. His campaign site lists priorities including investing in residents ahead of what he calls mega-events, noting the ward still has no subway station of its own; tax relief for local businesses and opposition to removing speed cameras; regulating unlicensed high-powered e-mopeds and closing what the site calls an e-bike classification loophole; a resident-driven snow-removal proposal that would pay locals directly rather than external contractors; having the City purchase existing condo units for subsidized low-income rent; funding 40 hours per year per officer for community engagement through the existing Auxiliary Program; and prioritizing an extension of Line 4.

Rakhee Kotecha

Registered 2026-07-22 · Website: no campaign website on file

Dan Lovell

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://danlovell.ca>

Dan Lovell is a candidate for Ward 22 Scarborough-Agincourt, registered on May 1, 2026. His campaign site, under the banner "making life affordable for Scarborough families," lists pledges including freezing property taxes while funding services through new taxes on vacant homes, luxury homes, and vacant commercial units; free TTC for youth and seniors; a publicly run grocery chain aimed at near-cost groceries; restoring and expanding public housing stock; redeveloping the Bridletowne Neighbourhood Centre site; returning snow removal to city crews rather than private contractors; new protected bike lanes; and a proposed indoor maximum-heat bylaw to protect tenants and condo residents.

Nick Mantas — INCUMBENT

Registered 2026-07-20 · Website: <https://www.nickmantas.ca/>

Nick Mantas is the incumbent councillor for Ward 22 Scarborough-Agincourt, registered as a candidate on July 20, 2026. His website is his sitting-councillor constituency site -- covering committees, ward surveys, petitions, and development updates -- rather than a distinct 2026 campaign platform; as of August 14, 2026 it did not include an itemized platform or issues page, and this bio is based on materials whose currency could not be confirmed (the site's footer carries a 2024 copyright notice, alongside an events listing dated into 2026). The site describes a background in public service and advocacy on sports accessibility and cultural preservation, but no forward-looking policy commitments could be drawn from it for this profile.

Donny Morgan

Registered 2026-06-19 · Website: <https://www.donnymorgan.ca>

Donny Morgan is a candidate for Ward 22 Scarborough-Agincourt, registered on June 19, 2026. His campaign site, under the theme "committed to community and change," describes a long-time community member with a hands-on volunteering background. His platform lists four concerns motivating his campaign: cost-of-living affordability; public safety framed to include prevention and support services rather than policing alone; gaps in youth support such as after-school programs and mental health care; and transit and public-service reliability. The site's stated core values are stronger communities, affordability and responsible leadership, and investing in the future, with a focus list covering local businesses, responsible budgeting, safer neighbourhoods, and support for youth, families, and seniors.

Ward 23 — Scarborough North

Office	Councillor, Ward 23 - Scarborough North
Seats	1
Incumbent	Jamaal Myers — running in 2026: yes — open seat: no
2022 result	Jamaal Myers won by 24.6 points over the runner-up — a landslide, not a close call. Citywide 2022 turnout was 29.7% (per-ward turnout is not compiled in this dataset). Source: City of Toronto official 2022 election results.
Candidates filed for 2026	5, as of 2026-08-14 (nominations close 2026-08-21)
Population (2021 Census)	94,025
Median household income (2020)	$87,000
Renter / owner split	20.6% / 79.4%
Land area	30.4 km ²

Civic texture

Scarborough North sits in the city's northeast corner, bordered by Steeles Avenue (the Markham boundary) to the north, Highway 401 to the south, Midland Avenue to the west, and Neilson Road to the east. It's a low-rise, largely residential suburban ward whose named neighbourhoods — Malvern, Milliken, Morningside Heights, and the eastern half of Agincourt — have no subway or LRT line of their own and are served entirely by TTC and GO bus/rail connections at the ward's edges. The ward is currently the site of two connected, ward-specific planning stories: a City-approved pilot allowing five- and six-unit "multiplex" housing on typical single-family lots (a first for Toronto, unique to this ward), and a long-running private redevelopment proposal to rebuild the aging Malvern Town Centre mall into a mixed-use, multi-tower neighbourhood.

One-paragraph summary from this ward's research brief; full civic texture for this ward is at unitetolove.ca/wards/ and its sources are compressed in this document's appendix.

Han Dong

Registered 2026-06-17 · Website: <https://www.votehandong.ca/>

Han Dong is a candidate for Ward 23 Scarborough North, registered on June 17, 2026. His campaign site describes his family arriving in Scarborough in 1990, working the night shift at his parents' 24-hour coffee shop, and his subsequent political career as an Ontario MPP (2014-2018) and Member of Parliament (2019-2025). The site states general priorities of affordability, housing, public safety, transit, and community services, and says he would draw on his provincial and federal experience to bring investment and a more fiscally prudent approach to City Hall. As of August 14, 2026, the site's dedicated "Platform" page was a placeholder reading "Platform Coming Soon," with no itemized policy commitments yet published.

Kevin Li

Registered 2026-05-01 · Website: <https://www.votekevinli.com>

Kevin Li is a candidate for Ward 23 Scarborough North, registered on May 1, 2026. His campaign site describes him assisting the late Councillor Cynthia Lai until her death in 2022 and continuing to informally help residents since, including walking what the site describes as every street in the ward over eight years; it also describes a background as a former teacher and small-business founder. His platform lists community safety and stronger community policing; better city services and responsible spending, including keeping tax increases below income growth; support for families, seniors, and youth; and accountability measures such as no self-approved pay raises, committing to serve a full term, and donating 10 percent of his salary to local food banks.

Jamaal Myers — INCUMBENT

Registered 2026-05-19 · Website: <https://electjamaalmyers.ca/>

Jamaal Myers is the incumbent councillor for Ward 23 Scarborough North, registered as a candidate on May 19, 2026. His campaign site describes his record since first being elected in 2022, including chairing the TTC since 2023 and freezing TTC fares for three years, a sixplex housing pilot he links to $471 million in federal affordable-housing funding, securing funding for the Scarborough Busway (opening September 2026) and for widening Steeles Avenue (construction starting 2027), and opening youth hubs at two libraries. His forward priorities include faster transit and safer streets, affordable homes in safer neighbourhoods, modernized city services, investment in youth and seniors, and support for local businesses and jobs.

John-Mark Oleh

Registered 2026-07-14 · Website: <https://www.johnmarkoleh.ca/>

John-Mark Oleh is a candidate for Ward 23 Scarborough North, registered on July 14, 2026. His campaign site describes growing up in the Malvern area of Scarborough North and attending school in the community. His platform lists four priorities: respect for every tax dollar, including publishing regular spending updates for the ward; transit that respects residents' time, including advocating for more reliable and frequent bus service and better bus shelters and lighting; healthcare that supports every resident, including community healthcare partnerships and youth mental-health support; and Scarborough's "fair share" of infrastructure investment, including safer roads and more funding for parks and recreation.

Ward 24 — Scarborough-Guildwood

Office	Councillor, Ward 24 - Scarborough-Guildwood

Incumbent	Paul Ainslie — running in 2026: yes — open seat: unknown
2022 result	Paul Ainslie won by 65.4 points over the runner-up — a landslide, not a close call. Citywide 2022 turnout was 29.7% (per-ward turnout is not compiled in this dataset). Source: City of Toronto official 2022 election results.
Candidates filed for 2026	3, as of 2026-08-14 (nominations close 2026-08-21)
Population (2021 Census)	102,755
Median household income (2020)	$78,000
Renter / owner split	45.0% / 55.0%
Land area	26.1 km ²

Civic texture

Scarborough-Guildwood runs along Lake Ontario in southeast Scarborough, bounded by Highway 401 to the north, Morningside Avenue to the east, a stepped line along Markham Road/Bellamy Road/McCowan Road to the west, and the lake to the south — it takes in Guildwood, West Hill, Morningside, Woburn, and Scarborough Village. Its anchor point is the Guildwood GO station on Kingston Road, also a Via Rail stop, now the subject of a provincially led plan to build as many as six towers (up to 60 storeys) on the station's north parking lot — one of several mid- and high-rise proposals currently moving through Scarborough Community Council for this ward. The ward is also home to Guild Park and Gardens, a 50-acre heritage park on the Scarborough Bluffs built around a collection of architectural fragments salvaged from demolished downtown Toronto buildings.
